FAULTY PUBLIC-SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

The matter of faulty construction and bad contract work on certain publicschool buildings of the city has been repeiving considerable attention of late. Ward Trustees have been complaining of deviations and omissions from the specifications, and of a general looseness on the part of builders. A committee appointed to look into the matter has been taking duct had the appearance of rehearsal. estimony for some weeks, and in a repor

The members of the Committee have given much time to the consideration of this important subje-and it seems apparent to them that such deviation rided by law; the substitution of cheap iron pipe instead of the specified AA lead pipe in seven large school buildings, covering a period of several years in construction; the entire omission of very large stoves and bollers in three school buildings dings should have easily been disappert, even if every inspector in the Department had falsely certified regarding the same, or the ward treatese had falled to call attention to them. It is the opinion of the Committee that competent and nonest superintendence and inspection by the parties responsible for the same would easily have protected the city from the gross imposition and fraud that it has suffered.

The evidence leading to this conclusion on the part of the Committee is strong. Public interest now demands that the matter should be promptly followed up. naibility for the wrongs involved should be positively placed by means of rigid investigation. The Committee believes that "there are sums of money that should be recovered from the contractors and that there are perhaps persons who should be punished." Is not this a plain and imperative pointing out of the proper line of action?

ECHOOL SYSTEM RECOMMENDATIONS.

A committee of the Board of Education recently appointed to visit other cities for the purpose of obtaining new ideas and suggestions for the New York public $500, which was covered by Mr. Gordon school system, has mude a somewhat extensive report.

Among the recommendations advanced by the Committee is one of a plan to raise the general standard of the teachers of whom New York employs 4,000. The application of a modified form of civilservice rules is suggested, together with provisions for the physical examination of candidates. In the matter of physical development, too, the Committee recommends that more attention be used to the dish system of exercise to the teachers.

Other recommendations are for an extension of the kindergarten system, for the establishment of special schools for on Nov. 4 the closest figures on Mr. Flower's said: plurality in this county. The actual plurality

The committee has evidently been faithful in its researches. Its recommendations are in the direction of practical progress and well worth the thoughtful attention of the public as well as of the Board. For it is to the public that the schools belong.
